Helping You Navigate Mortgage to Rent: Meet Our Tenant Liaison Officer Kevin Keogh

At Irish Homes, we know that going through the Mortgage to Rent process can feel overwhelming. That's why, in January 2026, we appointed a dedicated Tenant Liaison Officer to guide our customers every step of the way.

Our Tenant Liaison Officer is there from the very beginning meeting customers at home, or wherever they feel most comfortable to explain the Mortgage to Rent process in plain, straight forward terms. No jargon, no confusion; just a familiar face and a helping hand.

The support doesn't stop at a single conversation. Our Tenant Liaison Officer is on hand throughout the entire process, assisting with paperwork such as the Social Housing Support application, helping to coordinate appointments, arranging access to the property, and making sure customers are kept fully informed as their case progresses. When questions arise or things need to move forward, there's always someone to turn to.

Speaking about his role, Kevin, our Tenant Liaison Officer said: "The best part of my job is meeting people and working with them to find the right solution. Every case is different, and there are always things to iron out along the way but keeping everything on track and seeing someone come through the process with a positive outcome makes it all worthwhile."

The appointment of a dedicated Tenant Liaison Officer is part of Irish Homes' broader commitment to making the Mortgage to Rent process as streamlined and positive an experience as possible. We believe that with the right support in place, customers can navigate this important transition with greater confidence and peace of mind.
